Made the Correction.

A schoolmar, reproving a young offender, said: "Now, Tommy, Tommy, you know better than that—you shouldn't say 'Willy done it,' that isn't right." "Ah, no, of course not," said Tommy, with just resentment; "then Willy lied about it."

EL MATE

A drink which is used by millions in South America and which is destined to become a favorite beverage with the people of the United States, as they become acquainted with its merits.

Man, primitive or cultured, seems to be so constituted that he needs or imagines he needs, periodically or regularly and habitually administered, some kind of a stimulant or narcotic.

Among the various HARMLESS stimulants whose effects are really beneficial, there are two beverages which are of strictly American origin. One is chocolate. The other is not so well known throughout the world, although it is the favorite beverage of perhaps TWENTY MILLION people in South America, and has been for generations. It is called "Verba Mate" in the Spanish speaking countries.

EL MATE COMPANY is introducing this product to the American public.

The United States government has issued a bulletin or history of the plant from which this drink is made and has this to say regarding its use in South America:

"The old, old native keeps alive on MATE; the German colonists find it good and it displaces beer in their daily habits; the Italian settlers in the city or on the farm rapidly acquire the MATE habit; the Spanish immigrant drops his high priced wine and is as well satisfied with the non-alcoholic MATE, and even the North European peasant, beginning a strange life in this newest of new worlds, draws contentment and refreshment from this wonderful weed of South America."

"For persons of weak and delicate constitutions it is the most invigorating beverage imaginable and leaves no DISAGREEABLE AFTER EFFECTS. Chemists and physicians who have made a special study of MATE on the human system are all loud in its praise."

In a population comprising one-third that of the United States, there is six times as much of this product used as there is COCO COLA in the United States. We believe it is only a matter of a few years till its consumption will be as enormous in the United States.

The company introducing this product in the United States is organized on a co-operative plan and is going to offer sixty shares of its capital stock to the people of Chickasha. It is not selling stock promiscuously but is calling on only a select list of people. Under no consideration will more than sixty shares be sold and they will be owned by from thirty to forty people. The shares are now selling for $15.00. The shares will be $20.00 within five or six weeks. Not a single share in this company can be bought in the towns of Clinton, Gustaf City, Thomas, Okemuncie, Mangum, Altus, Hobart, Lone Wolf, Blair, Granite, Lawton and a great many other towns in Oklahoma and Texas. The stipulated amount, ranging from ten to fifty shares, according to population, has been placed in these towns and the company does not want any more stock sold there.

The Company has already painted several walls in Chickasha and is carrying on an advertising campaign about as permanent and extensive as some of the nationally known products.—Adv.

Siberia Picking Up.

A number of new commercial enterprises have recently been undertaken in northeast Siberia. Many iodine works have been established in the neighborhood of Vladivostok, on the shore of the Japanese sea; the iodine being made from seaweed found there in abundance. An interesting distillery for other has been opened, the bulk of the ingredients being violets and iris blossoms from the Ussuri countryside. A good deal of amber is being collected from the beach along the coast of Premorsk and many new salt workings have been opened in the government of Irkutsk and in the Lena hinterland in the vicinity of Viluiak.—Chicago Journal.

People in Books.

There is no possession people are so unwilling to let one have as an imagination. In private friends will tear a book to shreds to discover some portrait they can recognize; and in the case of authors famous enough to be dead, critics rake the ground wherever they have trod in an effort to prove that the folk of their fancy were drawn from the earth rather than the air. There seems no means of convincing a reader that in a writer's head are constantly a thousand faces he has never seen or heard of, all subtle with story, and all so real that they often make his daily waking seem a dream.—Winifred Kirkland in the Atlantic Monthly.
